

Distribution of sites at which western prairie fringed orchid (Platanthera praeclara) is present.¹ Surveys are incomplete in some areas. Therefore, western prairie fringed orchid may be present at additional sites that contain suitable habitat and that are not indicated on this map.

¹ Unless we had evidence that a population has gone extinct at a site, we assumed that it was extant there if at least one flowering plant has been observed since 1981. Flowering plants have been observed at most of these sites numerous times since 1981, but annual surveys are not conducted at each site.